

Categorizing is useful when you want to allow users to distinguish the pages they create in the system. For example, based on their topic. Categorizing is a different approach to sorting pages in the system from the one described in Tags.

In this chapter, you can learn how you can configure Categories so that content editors can use them on the site. Specifically, you can learn about:

Listing pages based on categories

Displaying categories on individual pages

You can display a list of categories a page is assigned to on the individual page. To achieve that, you need to write a transformation method for displaying a list of categories assigned to a given page.

Example article

Duis ac mi rhoncus sed, consectetur a, tortor. Mauris molestie semper ligula. Etiam scelerisque viv orci. Ut adipiscing dignissim turpis.
