

To allow website visitors to donate sums of money, we recommend using a third-party payment service. Add a donation button or link into the content of your website's pages in the Pages application.

- Place the donation element into the design of your page's templates using the Static text or Static HTML web part (see Using and configuring web parts). This approach allows you to share the donation content across multiple pages, for example in the website footer.
– OR –
- Directly add the donation element into the content of a specific page – either via an editable text region on the Page tab, text field on the Form tab (see Editing pages) or using an editor widget.

Tip: Many payment services provide a web interface that allows you to generate HTML snippets for donation buttons or links. You can copy the snippet into the appropriate location in Kentico.

For example, see Create a Donate button to learn how to prepare a PayPal donation button.

Summary:

Dancing Goat regularly donates money to Children in Africa, a foundation helping children with food, accommodation, education, and other essentials. Donate with us and create a better world.

Text:

Every month, volunteers from all over the world come and help out at Children in Africa camps, where they try and assist all children in need to try to narrow the gap in living standards. With the money donated, the foundation mainly buys much-needed food and medication.

Create a better world and donate with us to Children in Africa. Even a few dollars can improve someone's life. Any help from you is appreciated, and you will have our sincere thanks for every cent you donate.
