Notifications allow the system to automatically send out messages informing about certain events. By default, the system can send notifications for the following events:

- Page created
- Page updated
- Page deleted

Kentico comes with a built-in email notification gateway. Your developers can also implement custom gateways, for example SMS or instant messaging providers. Note that for one event, users can obtain notification messages from multiple providers.

Notifications have only one setting in Settings -> System.

- Send email notifications from – sets the email address used as the sender (the From field) of notification emails.