Using the Media libraries application, you can store various files, for example, photos, pictures, sound files, videos, package files, presentations or document files. This means that you are able to store non-media types of files in Media libraries as well. Your site can be set up to allow visitors to view and add content to media libraries. Media libraries can also be associated with certain groups.

✓ If you are an administrator, you may want to configure media libraries first.
